manis sebenarnya berjiwa pemberontak. Dan Febi yang ayu, masih berdarah ningrat. Apesnya, ketiganya berpacaran dengan tiga cowok gunung di kampus mereka. Langen dan Rei jadian karena cinta, tapi lama-lama sering ribut. Fani pacaran dengan Bima karena terpaksa, lebih banyak ributnya daripada mesranya. Sedangkan hubungan Febi dan Rangga adem ayam aja. Masalahnya: Rei, Bima, dan Rangga, tak pernah mengajak cewek mereka naik gunung, tapi bersedia jadi bodyguard Stella yang supergenit dan Josephine yang berbodi yahud. Jelas Langen jadi ""gerah"" dicuekin Rei. Akhirnya, Langen cs menantang Rei cs kebut gunung alias dulu-duluan sampe puncak! Berhasil? Wah, emangnya cuma cowok yang jagoan? Tul, nggak? "

This book examines how style and intersubjective meanings emerge through language use. It is innovative in theoretical scope and empirical focus. It brings together insights from discourse-functional linguistics, stylistics, and conversation analysis to understand how language resources are used to enact stances in intersubjective space. While there are numerous studies devoted to youth language, the focus has been mainly on face-to-face interaction. Other types of youth interaction, particularly in mediated forms, have received little attention. This book draws on data from four different text types - conversation, e-forums, comics, and teen fiction - to highlight the multidirectional nature of style construction. Indonesia provides a rich context for the study of style and intersubjectivity among youth. In constructing style, Indonesian urban youth have been moving away from conventions which emphasized hierarchy and uniformity toward new ways of connecting in intersubjective space. This book analyzes how these new ways are realized in different text types. This book makes a valuable addition to sociolinguistic literature on youth and language and an essential reading for those interested in

For the batik-makers, canting, the copper pens to paint batik, are their spirits. At its most glorious moment canting is blown with deep and powerful feelings that are blended with the owner's breath. But nowadays, hand-painted batik that is made by using a canting is crushed and cornered with the emerging of the new print batik. Hand-painted batik takes months and months to make, but this new kind only takes a few blinks. Canting is a symbol of a defeated and isolated culture because it is considered to be time-consuming. Ni--a girl who holds a bachelor degree in pharmacy, a bride-to-be from Ngabean--tries to explore hand-painted batik with a canting. However, she faces strong pressures from Pak Bei, a bold and handsome nobleman; Bu Bei, her mother, who used to be a batik painter; and her successful siblings. Canting, which is the signature of Ngabean's batik cannot withstand the market demands. "When we acknowledge a sick culture, we must not cry, we must raise a flag instead." Ni decides to be un-Javanese, to be different, to go against the flow in order to survive. Ni, who was born when Ki Ageng Suryamentaram died, is the second generation after her father, who dares to be un-Javanese.

hope, strength, and joy despite extraordinary challenges. When John and Aileen Crowley learned that their two youngest children had a rare and little understood genetic disorder, they didn't hope for miracles: they made them happen. In 1998, 15-month old Megan and 4-month old Patrick were diagnosed with Pompe disease, a rare and fatal neuromuscular disorder that affects only a few thousand children worldwide, usually leaving them with little to no muscle function, enlarged hearts, and severe difficulty breathing. John Crowley was absolutely determined to find a treatment to save his children's lives. At the age of 31, he walked away from the corporate world to help co-found a start-up biotech company, focused exclusively on developing a treatment for Pompe. A truly uplifting and inspiring book that captures this remarkable family's everyday life, this is a memoir about life and love; about coping with adversity; and, most importantly, about what it means to never, never quit.

Born in Ngawi, East Java, in 1932, Umar Kayam obtained his masters degree from New York University and his doctoral degree from Cornell University. It was there, in New York, where he began to hone his literary skills. The publication of his first collection of short stories, A Thousand Fireflies in Manhattan, in 1972, gained him national fame as a short story writer. The light and semi-ironic tone of Kayam's "New York stories," in which the author viewed an archetypal cast of New York characters through the lens of a naïve Indonesian outsider vanished completely in the next phase of the author's career when he dealt with the impact of the incarceration and killings of hundreds of thousands of Communists or alleged Communists that took place after the rise of Soeharto's militaristic regime. Kayam's highly nuanced portraits of the innocent victims of "1965" again earned him critical acclaim. Kayam was a regular contributor to the literary column of "Kompas," the nation's largest newspaper, and during the third and final stage of the author's literary career, it became an almost annual event for him to contribute a story about Lebaran, the holiday that marks the end of the Muslim month of fasting, a time when millions of Indonesians who have moved from the communities where they were born attempt against numerous odds to return home. The stories produced by Kayam during the three stages of his literary career vary greatly in subject matter and tone. What binds them together is that in each and every one, one hears is the voice of the common man.
