Handbook of Conflict Analysis and Resolution

A New Philosophy of Social Conflict joins in the contemporary conflict resolution and transitional justice debates by contributing a Deleuze-Guattarian reading of the post-genocide justice and reconciliation experiment in Rwanda -the Gacaca courts. In doing so, Hawes addresses two significant problems for which the work of Deleuze and Guattari provides invaluable insight: how to live ethically with the consequences of conflict and trauma and how to negotiate the chaos of living through trauma, in ways that create self-organizing, discursive processes for resolving and reconciling these ontological dilemmas in life-affirming ways. Hawes draws on Deleuze-Guattarian thinking to create new concepts that enable us to think more productively and to live more ethically in a world increasingly characterized by sociocultural trauma and conflict, and to imagine alternative ways of resolving and reconciling trauma and conflict.

ADR Report

The changing nature of conflict and the increase in intrastate conflict during the 1990s, followed by its slow decline since the turn of the century, have led to changing priorities in the field of conflict resolution. No longer is the international community solely concerned with resolving existing conflicts; it also is managing emerging conflicts to ensure that they do not flare into violent conflict. This book outlines some of the strategies parliaments and parliamentarians can adopt to reduce the incidence of conflict and effectively manage conflict when it does emerge. It is hoped that by.

Seminar paper from the year 2018 in the subject Business economics - Miscellaneous, grade: 2,0, University of applied sciences, Munich, language: English, abstract: Germany and Spain are important business partners. They both hold tight economic relations. Most of the Spanish imports, to be precise 14,7 %, have been from Germany in 2016. This illustrates the closely-knit network of the two countries. Moreover, many German companies have subsidiaries in Spain. For example, companies like Lidl, Daimler AG and Volkswagen AG are listed in the top 10 of Germany's enterprises in Spain, ranked by the number of its employees. Even though, both countries are a member of the European Union and they have the advantage to do business in a highly liberalized market, there are still many issues which could lead to conflicts caused by different cultural values and perspectives. In order not to jeopardise the excellent trade relations, it is essential to know how to deal with conflicts within the two nations. As Germany has a lot of undertakings in Spain the focus of this seminar paper will be on customer conflict management. Furthermore, the society of the 21st century is highly influenced by mass media evoked by digitalization. This causes an almost infinitely qualitative and quantitative increase of collective and individual conflicts, which is another reason why conflict management nowadays is so essential. Hereinafter, the structure of the seminar paper will be outlined. The purpose of this paper is to analyse the differences between the German and Spanish cultures in terms of customer conflict management. The illustration of the term conflict management will be quite brief due to the limited extent of this paper. The comparison of the two cultures will be mainly based on the GLOBE Study and Hofstede's dimensions. These two studies will help to outline the cultural similarities and differences of the two European countries. Firstly, the facts about culture, conflict management and the two intercultural communication studies used in this paper will be a short outlined. The main part will focus on the analysis of the German and Spanish culture by using the empirical findings of the GLOBE Study and Hofstede's cultural dimensions. Afterwards the impact of cultural differences in terms of customer conflict management will be made clear. In the conclusion the seminar paper gives an idea of preventive measures on customer conflict management as well as a prospect for the future.

Conflict Resolution Through Cultural Tolerance

The product of an international, multi-disciplinary conference at Queen's University Belfast, the two-volume Friends and Foes series offers an illuminating investigation of the relationship between friendship and conflict by established and emerging scholars. This second volume explores the topic from political, sociological and psychological perspectives. Many of these essays examine what types of friendships are forged, and how, in contexts of potential, or actual, social and political conflict, such as in Northern Ireland during the Troubles. Others focus on how situations of conflict can be transformed into friendship, using insights from psychology, philosophy, history and anthropology. The papers in this volume will appeal to sociologists, political scientists, and all those concerned with themes of conflict resolution, identity, social capital, community-building and well-being.

A Review of Conflict Resolution Agenda in the Horn of Africa

Information Security and Privacy

This invaluable guide is excellent for students, peace groups and activists. With tables, maps, case studies and quotes it looks at how conflict escalates and ways it can be prevented. It examines the changing types of war, including the War on Terror and ethnic conflict such as in Rwanda; the role of diplomacy and the UN and what steps ordinary people are taking to re-build communities. It also offers ideas and inspiration for creating lasting peace.

Papers Presented at the Second Session of the Working Party on Small-Scale Fisheries

This Proceedings contains the papers presented at the 7th IFAC Workshop on Supplementary Ways for Improving International Stability held in Ohrid, Republic of Macedonia on 22-24 May 2000. There are twenty papers which discuss a wide and diverse selection of issues such as peace, conflict, ethics, tourism, social systems and international law in relation to regions of long-confronted nations. Paper 1 is an invited plenary lecture which is dedicated to the study of mutual relationship and relevance of systems theory and human science. Paper 2 is the keynote lecture dedicated to the study of the concept of active peace. Paper 3 is the SWIIS 2000 survey paper dedicated to surveying the development of the application of systems engineering methods to international conflict resolution. Session one looked at behaviour indicated with slogans and proverbs and general security modelling in society systems via a view stability as ever evolving property and a need for safety and stability. Session two discusses power distribution, processes of coalition formation and conditions for multipolar stability. Structural analysis and modelling of complex hierarchical systems is also addressed here. The third session looks at how fuzzy information is dealt with in human organisation systems and the theory of using fuzzy systems for analysing society systems in transitional crisis and reformulation of national goals. The fourth session is dedicated to non-technical problems in crisis or similar situations in society systems represented by issues of ethics, fairness and justice. In session five the authors presented the modelling and management results of their own multi-national co-operation following their goals and purposes. It also explores a new methodological approach to international cross-boundary co-operation in regions of long confronted nations which is enhanced by common ecological concerns and tendencies to save the living environment for future generations. The impact of NATO action on supplemental ways intended to improve international stability, with a primary focus on the 1999 Kosovo crisis is discussed in session six. Session seven looked at methods which can be used in order to empower individuals, teams, and even larger social groups to become more competent in coping with changes. The impact of developing tourism and tourist industries on cross-border international co-operation in regions of long confronted nations is also discussed here.
