Leo Bersani's career spans more than 50 years, and extends across a wide spectrum of fields from French studies, modernism, realist fiction, and psychoanalytic criticism, to film theory and queer theory (a field Bersani could be said to have invented). In Thoughts and Things Bersani emerges as a thinker of ontology, aesthetics, and ethics, i.e., he emerges as a philosopher of the first order. In this elegant series of essays, he posits what would appear to be an irreducible gap between our thoughts (the human subject) and things (the world). His exemplary texts range from Jean Genet (Our Lady of the Flowers) to Claire Denis (the French filmmaker whose masterpiece is Beau Travail). But he then asks whether a fissure of being between the subject and the world might simply be masking a more fundamental oneness, arguably a oneness intrinsic to our being in and with the world. He addresses the problem of formulating ways to consider the undivided mind, drawing on various sources from Descartes to cosmology, Sufi mysticism, and neo-Platonism. Cosmos and individual, past and present merge in the idea that our bodies contain atoms from stars that exploded millions of years ago: res cogitans and res extensa, for Bersani, are united in the oneness of cosmic being. This little book, in its sensitive treatment of films and literary texts, succeeds brilliantly in diagramming new forms as well as radical failures of connectedness. It is a new departure for Bersani, and will be devoured by his growing body of devoted readers."

The solution is shown on page 239. Rest of the book is a step-by-step logical progression to the solution. Why? Last century has seen many crisis unfold, but the learning from them had not been applied to make our system, safer and secured. According to the author, the prevailing Financial Crisis resulted from a poor quality of information, running the global financial system. The author uses the 'information asymmetry' and 'information lifecycle' to put forth his argument. As this book extracts learning from this crisis, it explains how financial sector and other businesses can apply the concept of 'High Quality of Information' to run a 'crisis-proof- business. In this book, the author constructs the global financial architecture, that can resist crises in future. So, are we more wiser, living through the current crisis? What can the non-financial sector learn from this crisis? Make an assessment for yourself, using the C(X)O checklist at the end of the book.

Ever wonder what a realtor does to deserve a disproportionately expensive 4%-6% commission on the sale of your home? They claim to offer unlimited exposure and transaction expertise and to act as an irreplaceable mediator in the negotiation process. In reality, what they provide is little more than a concierge tour service to show your home, and is that really worth $20,000 on the sale of a $400,000 home? In Death of the Real Estate Salesman, Jarred Kessler describes how advances in technology have rendered the traditional role of the real estate agent meaningless. He describes how emerging Internet-based tools will enable homeowners and prospective buyers to find each other with zero commitment, zero uncertainty, and zero realtor involvement. Buyers will be able to find their dream home more readily with less distrust in the process, and sellers will reap the financial rewards of not losing tens of thousands of dollars to a realtor with a competing agenda. By learning his process, you will open your eyes to the new world of real estate, which is just around the corner in a desirable neighborhood near you.

Book Talks

"On the road to self-actualization" features tales that will inspire you to fulfil your dream. Its intent is to help people anticipate conflicts which life introduces when they seek to fulfil their dreams. It sheds light on the making of mid-life crisis and how to manage it. Set in Nigeria, it mirrors struggles between dreams, ambitions and destiny and the winning psyche. The tales will challenge you to discover and harness your endowments - the gifts for which you have passions. But they also disabuse people who carry on with life in despair. Unfortunately, a lot of people tend to interpret their condition based on some superstition. Doing so, they ignore the need or fail to reinvent themselves. Consequently, they fail to make a success of life. Getting to grips with forces that shape outcome of life - the way Ike did in the tales - is critical for success. Life's issues are a decisive influence in the tale. On occasion life manifests its harsh realities - defying reason and unleashing ordeals on its victims. Helplessly mankind has had to live with an uncritical but rational mind that life's phenomena encompass vicissitudes. Solving all of life's questions is not beyond the realms of possibility. But finding appropriate responses to dictates of life intriguingly belongs in the spiritual realm - some would say. That way life continues to take a toll on its victims. From struggles to quit the rat race to manoeuvres to know what the future holds in store, life holds sway still. People who make a success story applaud life for its fairness, while the unfortunates bemoan that life is unfair to them. Yet everyone learns the lessons of life in the school of experience. The unpalatable truth is that human desires - usually seen in people's lofty dreams and ambitions - and the realities of life are often diametrically opposed. This fact dawns when somebody's chickens come home to roost as is evident in Ike's experience.

On the Road to Self-Actualization

This text is intended for a first course in introductory financial accounting. It was updated to reflect current International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS). For example, it reflects the recent change in IAS38, para. 98, allowing the use of multiple methods in amortizing intangible assets. It focuses on core Introductory Financial Accounting topics that match pre-requisite requirements for students advancing to Intermediate Financial Accounting. Excluded are advanced topics that are covered in Intermediate Financial Accounting, such as leases and bond amortization. The text takes a corporate approach (vs. beginning with a sole proprietorship emphasis and then converting to a corporate approach); this consistency throughout the book reduces confusion for the introductory student. The book covers all essential topics: the accounting cycle, merchandising, assigning costs to inventory, cash and receivables, property, plant and equipment, debt financing, equity financing, statement of cash flows, financial statement analysis, and proprietorships and partnerships. Additionally, this version of the open text is supported by Lyryx Learning, offering at an affordable price editorial services to develop and adapt the content, formative online assessment, course supplements, and daily support to both the students and instructors.
